Join Our Indigenous Student Advisory Council for a Cultural Networking Experience

Are you an Indigenous post-secondary student passionate about shaping the future of networking events? We invite you to be a part of something special – the heartbeat of cultural relevance, fun, and collaboration within the tech industry!

Your Role

Your role will be pivotal in advising us on how to run events in a culturally respectful way. Share your insights on what would make these gatherings compelling and welcoming, ensuring broad accessibility. How can we best engage students? We want your expertise and perspective to help shape an inclusive experience that resonates with audiences from diverse Indigenous backgrounds.

About Us

TECHNATION's Career Ready Program supports businesses by financing their decision to hire a student for a work-term placement, as well as many events to inspire students to find their pathway into tech. We are committed to nurturing a community where Indigenous voices are heard and celebrated. As we gear up for our upcoming events in Vancouver and Toronto, we're assembling an Indigenous Student Advisory Council to infuse these gatherings with the richness of diverse experiences.

Who We're Looking For

Indigenous students from coast to coast, representing all levels of education! Whether you're a seasoned event planner or a first-time attendee, your unique perspective is invaluable. Be a driving force in creating events that reflect and celebrate Indigenous cultures while providing a platform for professional growth.

We are seeking 5-10 individuals. There is an opportunity for the committee to continue beyond March for future events and Indigenous student outreach initiatives.
